Sir, from the origin of our State Government, no party has existed among us to rai e a voice against erecting monuments in memory of our distinguished dead. No sir, when one of Kentucky's, noble and talented sons is taken from us this noble old Commo wealth is shrouded in the sable hues of mourning from one extreme to the other, she is ever ready and willing to show her appreciation of moral worth and talent in a manly and dignified nanner; she erects suitable monuments, with appropriate devises, showing for whom her people ave in their hearts, an abiding love and respect. ir, a stranger on visiting our cemeteries, wil be convinced by the tall and stately pillars marble lifting their summits in sublime graneur above the groveling things of earth, that many of Kentucky's sons lie buried in honored Why then, sir, should the remains of Daniel Boone lie on yonder hill, under the very dumns erected to the memory of Kentucky's stinguished dead, with nothing save a slight elevation of the sod above them; with not a stone or index to point the visiting stranger to that

If there be such emotion as gratitude in the breasts of Kentuckians, little or much, it commands at our hands the erection of this proposed monument. True, this may not be the proper time to make the appropriation. I have doubted the expediency of more appropriations this session, and have sir, notwithstanding my scruples on this subject, I cannot vote against this bill. Let us pass the bill, and I am sure it will be looked to by the whole State as one of the no-blest acts that ever received the sanction of a Kentucky Legislature. I shall vote against it, because I believe it is inappropriate, and in exceedingly bad taste; because I believe it is not in consonance with the character of the man. Sir, were it possible for the spirit of that great pioneer, at s moment, to enter this Hall, to assume a ble, tangible form—to speak and vote—I verily believe there is no man within these walls who would vote against this proposition with a more emphatic no, than he.

Why erect the stately column upon his ashes, or surround his grave with the embelishments of art, when, in his life-time, he seemed to take no pleasure in such things? Why surround him with the trophies of art, and all those decorations suggested by a refined and polished taste, now that he is dead, when while he lived, Sir, the forms, the fashions, the refinements of shed society seem to have had no charms for Boone. Sir, I will not say he did not love the society of his fellow-man; but I do say, he seems manufactories at home and abroad. to have loved the vast solitudes of nature more. As civilization advanced, the Indian, the buffalo, and elk retreated deeper and deeper into the recesses of the forest, and Boone was ever ready and willing to follow on their trail. Child of nature as he was, he needs no monument, or only such as nature herself has supplied-I mean, sir, those stately trees which spread out and intermingle their branches over his sleeping ashes.— But, sir, if something must be done, let it be in harmony with the character of the man. And, sir, I can think of nothing better, than to fasten to one of those trees just mentioned, the branching antlers of some noble buck, and suspend thereon all the implements of an Indian warrior and pioneer hunter. Or, if this be deemed too ephemera'-roll upon his grave some huge unpolished stone, and chisel thereon the simple inscription,

It seems to me, sir, that much taste has been displayed in selecting his final resting place. He lived and died a pioneer and borderer. Sir, he is a borderer still. Upon the very outskirts of that cemetery, apart from his fellows, almost upon the very verge of the bluff that overlooks that beantiful river, there he rests, rather an outsider, than an inhabitant of yonder city of the dead. Mar not, sir, the harmony that seems to exist between the character of the man and the scenery that surrounds him. But, sir, no marble is necessary to perpetuate the name of Boone. Sir, if I believed it was necessary and suited to the character of the man, I would say, raise high the polished shaft, let it go up, and still up, till it pierced the very heavens, till it reached so great a height, that the last lingering rays of the setting sun would bathe summit in light, for hours, after darkness of Kentucky, that it will endure as long as Ken-

BLANDY'S PATENT PORTABLE STEAM SAW MILLS

FRUITS, PICKLES, TOYS, CONFECTIONERIES, &C.,

5,000 to 10,000 Feet Lumber per Day STEAM ENGINES FOR THE PEOPLE

Blandys' Steam Engine Works!!

THE BLANDY PORTABLE STEAM SAW MILL THE BLANDY PORTABLE STEAM SAW MILL is one of the most important and successful inventions of the age; is strictly portable, requiring no building or masonry: readily transported on two was gons; is set down on timbers bedded in the earth; cuts amounts of lumber per day almost incredible to those who for the first time hear of its performances; requires no professional Engineers or Sawyers, but is adapted to, and in the great majority of cases, operated by parties previously unacquainted with the Steam Engine or Sawing. It pays owners and operators very satisfactorily, and n-body begrudges it its earnings. Makes good lumber. Costs less than the commonest fixed mills.

Everything necessary for actual operation, except water and fuel and the timbers upon which to set if, are furnished with each mill unless otherwise provided for. 5 boxes quarts; 5 boxes pints; in store and for sale by nov24 GRAY & TODD.

THE BLANDY PORTABLE STEAM ENGINE is just as useful and successful for all other purposes as sawing lumber, is made of any required power, but of one uniform style and design, from the smallest to the largest, (either coal or wood, separately or mixed, may be used for fuel,) are used for threshing grain, and for other farm and plantation work, and for all manufacturing and mechanical purposes. The Blandy Portable saw Mill or Engine has obtained the First Premium at three successive Ohio State Fairs, 1857, 1858, 1859; the First Premium at every State and County Fair at which they have been on exhibition. Notwithstanding the hard times, our orders steadily increase, affording the most substantial evidence of the estimation in which our machinery is held by the people.

The peculiar features which render our Steam Engine so successful and popular are patented, and are not now used by any other builders.

Having a very large and perfectly equipped establishment, with an ample capital, and every desirable facility for the manufacture of our machinery, it is produced at the very lowest cost, and we are consequently enabled to sell Steam Engines at lower prices than they have ever been sold before, so as to bring them within the reach of the people who use them.

Circulars containing descriptions, prices, &c., illustrated by engravings, with reports of operators, forwarded to all applicants.

Our published statements of operators are selected from our business correspondence, and are never solicited. As names, dates, and post-offices are always given, letters of inquiry may be addressed to them. OWENTON, Owen co., Ky., 27th, Dec., 1859,

* * Our Engine works up to any speed we desire;
in fact we often have more power than we can use,
and have to lear e the fire-door open when sawing dry timber. In sawing green poplar we use about halt the slabs, but consume the other half in running our Grist Mill two days in the week. We make 30 bushels cornmeal per hour with a pair of Burriss' 30 inch burrs. You may think that fast, but it is true; and we run a flouring mill at the same time, both coupled directly to the engine. * * My mill is quite popular, not only as a saw, but grist mill, and I must give the Blandy Portable Steam Engine at least half the credit, for it works at all times Like A Thing of Life. We have had but very little trouble in keeping everything in order without the aid of a machinist or engineer. I had a man with me three days who had been used to a stationary engine. Since then a boy attends the engine, and does it well. As to my saw, we can cut just what we please—have cut at the rate of 1350 feet per hour.
The saw never heats in any kind ot timber. Lumber is in good demand, so that up to this time I cannot get a supply for myself.

It is a settled point, and given up by all who have seen Blue Diek, that it is far ahead of any thing ever introduced into this part of the State. Blue Diek got the first premium at the Fair of the North Kentucky Agricultural and Mechanical Association, last month, and was immensely popular with everybody.

Since our farmers have seen Blue Diek hitched to a Thrashing Machine, they all want him next year, but he can't thrash them all in a week or two, so it's no use talking, I have got to have a mate for him.

* * I have sawed, for weeks together, seven,
eight, and nine thousand feet of lumber per day.
In ten successive days. I cut 84,500 feet, which was

The books of the mill will show what I state to be ABEL HALL, OPERATOR NANCE MILL.

LEAD CREEK, Mo, 7th Oct., 1859.

* * Our Mill is still doing fine, making very nice smooth lumber, and cutting all the logs we can get to and from it. It has deceived the old-fashioned mill men the worst of anything I ever saw. They can't see how it is that it has so much power and it so little. But they have to acknowledge that it out-cuts any mill they ever saw, big or little.

In II hours 5 minutes, my brother and myself, with John Kinney, sawyer, cut 14,073 feet—and the time we were at dinner and flighting saw is included in the time specified above.

* RUSSELLVILLE, Logan co., Ky., 14th Nov., 1859.

* * After nine months running, my own mill has given me full satisfaction; and all visiting it say they never saw the like before. It is the admiration of all who see it. I have it constantly surrounded with large piles of lumber, which cannot be hauled away as fast as I can make it.

* * We have become the owners of the engine you sold to Jo. Young, of Wilson county, Tenn. He called it "The Durham Bull." We call it "Old Blandy, for it is worthy of its maker's name; and the work cannot beat it, for we are running a 30 inch saw with it, making as nice smooth lumber as was ever seen. We moved it some 45 miles, and set it up on the bank of the Caney Fork Kiver, and we sawlogs as large with it as 42 inches; and we make it draw its own logs out of the river up a railway 149 feet long and 42 feet elevation. We also pump water 52 feet high, and do it all at the same time. Its performances deceive all that look at it—both those who are judges of an engine, and those who are folse enough to think that it is so small that it can't do anything. We mean to attach a grist mill next spring, and we do all with the pointer screwed down to 70 pounds.

THE VESPER GAS

AIR LIGHT, The Cheapest, most Brilliant, an most Convenient Artificial Light

in the World! THE Vesper Gas Light has won for itself a reputation for elegance, economy, safety, and simplicity far beyond any other artificial light. The Vesper Gas flame and fixtures precisely resemble in form those of coal gas; but in brilliancy and purity of light, it possesses a decided advantage over even Louisville coal gas. It requires no chimney; there is no need of daily trimming of wick; and the construction of the fixture is so simple that it is not lable to get out of order, and a child can manage it readily. The gas burned in the Vesper fixtures is generated from pure coal oil, without any admixture of alcohol or other foreign ingredient. It is entirely free from oder while burning, as, by a simple contrivance, the vapor of the oil is mixed with the atmosphere, producing perfect combustion and a most intense light. The light has been pronounced by those who have had it in constant use for months, as most pleasant to the eye while reading or sewing, there teng no flicker or unsteadiness in the flame. The V-sper Gas Light is portable, and can be used in towr or country—in fact, wherever artificial light is required. The fixtures themselves are adapted in styles to suit all tastes, from the plain single-light burner to the most costly chandelier. Each chandelier is perfect in itself; there is no outlay to be made for service pipes. The gas is generated in the burner, and all fixtures, from the cheap single-light burner to the expensive chandelier, are miniature gas-works in themselves. They are sold at prices which do not exceed the cost of the ordinary gas fixtures of similar style and ornamentation. A price list will be sent to any address on application.
